Altfield Sample
Return Label

Altfield is a leading resource for beautiful Textiles, Wallcoverings & Leather; distributing a number of high end lines from around the world, together with a collection of smaller boutique and artisanal lines. As a multiline showroom, we feel the need to take a lead on making our industry more sustainable.

As sampling is a very wasteful part of the Interiors Industry, we are taking steps to be a little friendlier to the Earth. We have always advised we are happy to take back any unrequired sampling, which allows us to not only reduce our waste but also our carbon footprint. This means less samples from our brands are required which can be reused by others like yourself. Now we want to make it even easier and at no cost to you!

We believe this initiative will be a helpful step in reducing the international footprint which is created through our industry and also allowing us to service our clients faster and more responsibly. We hope you will take part in our efforts and take steps forward to help a sustainable future.
